New China - Fall River's Hidden Gem

by JULIE KITAYAMA
Great Dining Columnist

Tucked away in a gas station strip mall, is a Fall River, MA hidden gem, The New China restaurant. Their website boosts of being "every Asian foodie's haven" and they are which proved true as they were recently voted one of the countries Top 100 Chinese Take Out Restaurants.

The menu is extensive and includes the typical Chinese findings and a few delightful Japanese, Thai and Vietnamese options including Chicken Loc Lac and Edamame. If you are looking for a healthy alternative, New China also offers their "Revolution Diet" menu of meals cooked without without salt, sugar, cornstarch or oil and includes such delights as the Protein Trio of Scallops, Jumbo Shrimp and Chicken with Snow Peas and Bean Sprouts and White Meat Chicken with Broccoli and Baby Corn.

When I eat at New China, the Tropical Mango Shrimp is a must have! The succulent shrimp is cooked in a spicy sauce which is balanced beautifully with a bed of sweet stir fried red and green peppers and fresh mango slices. If you are in the mood for a more traditional Chinese option, the General Tso's chicken is a great choice. It is surprisingly light and served on a bed of broccoli with a garlic sauce that comes sweet or spicy based on your taste. Whatever your craving is, every menu item is cooked perfectly and with the love and care that you find in top restaurants.

Although the majority of orders are take out and delivery, there is a nice small seating area with a friendly staff. The New China has an extensive delivery area including Fall River, Somereet, Swansea, Westport, Freetown, Assonnet, Tiverton and Portsmouth.

So if you are looking for reason to visit Fall River, MA, a trip to the The New China is it.

Location: 350 Rodman St.
Fall River, MA
Phone: 508-678-7500
Cross Streets: Between Hartwell St and RT-81

General Tso's Chicken: One of the many fabulous dishes at New China

New China's notably warm and friendly servers, is a sign of great food at restaurants